8th March, 2019

About the Workshop

Central Library, IIT Bombay is organizing 1 day workshop on “Innovative Information Literacy: active learning and engaging pedagogies” on 8th March 2019. The workshop is targeted at the Library and Information Professionals from academic and research organizations.

Despite students’ wide use of Google Scholar and search engines, in order to succeed in developing critical thinking skills such as analysis and evaluation, not only in school but in the workplace our students need to learn about digital literacies. The workshop has two outstanding LIS professionals as resource person namely Ms. Rebecca Raworth, Island Medical Program & Health Sciences Librarian and Ms. Aditi Gupta, Learning & Research Librarian: Engineering & Science means Centre for Learning - McPherson Library, Canada, and who have extensive and in depth experience in the Information Literacy area. They are visiting India in March 2019 and agreed to conduct this workshop at IIT Bombay. The outcome of this workshop is expected to help the participants in planning and developing a strategy to implement Information Literacy programme in their Libraries and our Library also will get benefit from this workshop.
